

Santa Fe girls in a jump rope race in front of my house. We celebrated birthdays for all one day with games, cake and popsicles.

Three legged race, Dominican style, the older boys helping the younger boys.

Cake baking lesson in my kitchen with the neighbor girls.

Preparing the altar at our Harvest Sunday celebration in December.

After the service on Harvest Sunday, Ramona is in charge of selling the harvest.

The women of the church are singing Happy Birthday to Ruth, the tall woman with the bag on her shoulder. Birthdays are a big deal here, regardless of your age.

Sister Gabriela and Sister Pricila being recognized in 2009 for over 20 years of ministry in their community, Barrio de los Flores. They are members of the Sisters of the Transfiguration and helped start the clinic where I now work.
